Bob Was Trail Blazer, Not Organizer, Says Lawrence

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1925, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—The passing of Senator Robert M. LaFollette will have virtually no political consequences nationally.
The radicals haven't really had a leader in the last year or so in the senate. Mr. Borah of Idaho comes nearest to that title because he has been able to draw Democrats and Republicans to his side, but the radical group's real strength is the independence of its individuals. Every one is a leader, and if a proposal is brought forth by anyone that seems to find favor with public opinion, the other radicals fall in line.

In the last decade, the Wisconsin senator has not been as powerful a factor as he was in the years preceding. Ever since the war he seems to have grown more isolated in the senate, keeping his own councils and making his speeches at dramatic moments without previous announcement. In the house he has wielded considerable influence because the members of congress from Wisconsin came from his wing of the Republican party. His death will have an important influence on the politics of Wisconsin but not on the third party movement or radical bloc, nationally speaking.

There is no question that Robert M. LaFollette had rare courage in politics, that he fought persistently and uncompromisingly for what he believed to be right. As he carried on almost alone his anti-war campaign, he met the disdainful glances of his friends with a smile that seemed at times almost a look of defiance.
He was unafraid. He knew his parliamentary law and senate rules. He knew how to obstruct and filibuster.
Outside the senate he was a remarkable campaigner. He drew crowds and held their attention for hours.
He won the admiration of political foes by his resourcefulness.

And yet while he had little success with affirmative policies—except possibly the LaFollette senators' law—the passing of the Wisconsin senator does make some of the conservatives hope that the backbone of the radical movement has been broken. The chances are not a one-man structure but a combination of dissenting elements drawn together by a common purpose to fight conservatism. And in that there are plenty of aspirants to radical leadership in the senate.

KILLED SISTER UPON REQUEST, FACES PENALTY

Paris—Found guilty of killing her sister at the latter's request, an incurable lung disease, Anna Levas-sor, Paris dressmaker, Saturday faced the necessity of atoning to the law by undergoing two years' imprisonment.
Her sister, Anna, wracked with pain, besought her to put her out of her misery and, her argument finally prevailing they decided together upon the means to be used. "I seated her in a

'You will shoot and I will move my head until it is finished.'"

DOCTOR ASKED ABOUT SOURCE OF DEATH GERM

Health Officer Admits Former Student of Fauman Is in His Department

Chicago—Dissatisfied by the trend of the cross-examination of his chief witness, William Scott Stewart, chief of counsel for William Darling Shepherd, forced an afternoon session of court Saturday. He did not want to let the jury have until Monday morning to study over the replies Dr.
Frederick O. Toney, head of the Chicago health department laboratory, had made to questions asked by Prosecutor Robert E. Crowe.

Upon direct examination, Dr. Toney testified emphatically that Charles C. Fauman, chief witness against Shepherd could not have obtained typhoid germs in the manner he had stated, and that the probability was that germs handled as Fauman said they had been handled would have been dead before Shepherd could have used them in the alleged murder of his millionaire foster son, Billy Mc-Clintock.

Under a driving attack by Prosecutor Crowe, Dr. Toney admitted that only a rule that germs should not be given out would stand between that act and its violation by an in-responsible employee, that at least one man in his department formerly attended Fauman's school, and that his department had propagated one set of germs for the last 30 years, and could continue to do so for 30 more.

Funeral in Body

MANY JOIN SPECIAL TRAIN

Crowds Gather at Points to Pay Tribute to Leader
Who Shook Nation

LaFollette Funeral Train, Chicago

—Running half an hour ahead of its schedule, the special train carrying the body of Senator Robert M. La-Follette home from Washington arrived in Chicago Saturday at 8:35
a. m., central standard time. It was transferred immediately from the Baltimore and Ohio to the Chicago and Northwestern tracks for the four hours' run to Madison.

The several friends of the family joined the funeral party. Senator Smith W. Brookhart and Mrs. Brookhart of Iowa; W. T. Baldwin of Freeport, Ill., who was treasurer of the LaFollette independent presidential campaign organization last fall, Attorney General Herman L. Ekern of Wisconsin, and A. T. Rogers, law partner of Philip LaFollette, son of the senator. They will remain in Madison until after the funeral Monday.

The train did not enter the heart of Chicago, starting the city on the broad bed of tracks which circles it from south to north. As the special moved slowly over this broad expanse of rails, it was viewed by small crowds, gathered to pay last respects to the man whose nearly half a century of public service came to an end last Thursday.

When the train was stopped for transfer to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, members of the Progressive party of Illinois, which followed LaFollette steadfastly, put aboard a floral offering.

The funeral special was on its way again after less than a ten minute stop here.

PAY TRIBUTE

Here and there along the way of the journey from Washington crowds gathered to pay a last tribute to leader whose voice, but so lately a power in the nation, is now forever stilled in death.

Immediately upon the arrival of the train at the Wisconsin capital the casket will be removed to the state house where it will lie in state until the hour of the funeral services, 11:30 a. m., Monday. Interment will be in the family plot where are buried Senator LaFollette's mother and father.

As the long journey was nearing its end, Mrs. LaFollette, companion and advisor to her husband in all his long public service, and her daughters and sons, were bearing with good fortitude the strain of the sad mission which takes them back home.

In accord with the wishes of the senator none of the family is wearing mourning.

Bunked about the casket where it rests in the observation section of the private car are many floral pieces, among which is a circular wreath of roses, lilies and evergreen sent by Plutarco E. Calles, president of Mexico.

The train was held for more than a half hour at Des Plaines, a Northwestern suburb of Chicago, for members of the Chicago party to join the funeral escort. The Chicagoans were taken aboard a suburban train due in Des Plaines at 10:50 a. m.

ATTEND IN BODY

will attend the funeral of Senator Robert M. LaFollette in a body Monday and meanwhile it is playing a prominent part in the public mourning that pervades Madison.

as honor guard over the body of the progressive chiefman, while it lies in state in the capitol rotunda Sunday.
They are State Senators Gary, Johnson, Southard, Severson, Smith and Staudenmayer and Assemblymen Ber-ensdorfer, Dettinger, Duncan, Eber, Ellenbecker, J. C. Hanson, Kamper,

liam Olson, Fahl, Price, Saugen,

Monday and the assembly at 10 o'clock. They will dispose with business and join in attending the funeral services at 1 o'clock in the capitol rotunda, and in accompanying the body to Forest Hill cemetery where it will be laid to rest. The Rev. E. Hayden of the University of Chicago School of Divinity will conduct the funeral service.

rives from Washington Saturday at 8:35 a. m. (Turn to page 3 column 1)

FAMOUS SHRINE PATROL DRILLS HERE ON MONDAY

Tripoli Shriners Will Spend Hour Here on Pilgrimage—Concert Is Planned

Wisconsin's famous Arab patrol, which has gained prominence nationally, will give an exhibition drill during the visit here Monday noon of the members of Tripoli temple of the Masonic Shrine, Milwaukee. The Shriners will start their statewide pilgrimage from Milwaukee Monday morning and the train is to arrive here at 12:35 and stop for one hour. The Arab patrol will go through its maneuvers about 12:45 in front of Lawrence Memorial chapel, with Capt. R. Fred Whetter in charge. Its drill is bewildering and masterful, with many new and more intricate movements and steps than the special band of spectators. The Wisconsin patrol has been given first place at every imperial council session of the Shrine for five years.

Two bands also will accompany the Shriners here, the famous Shrine band of Tripoli temple led by Capt. Fred W. Brunkhorst, and the new Oriental band, with Dr. Robert O. Brunkhorst as director. Appleton commandery will serve as a reception committee to meet the Shriners. Special trains conveying the Shriners and their bands will be conducted from the depot to Masonic temple and the chapel where the drill will be held. All Masons have been notified to be on hand to greet the visitors and witness the drill. The public also is invited to see the ceremonies and hear the band concert.

All vehicular traffic will stop on streets in the vicinity of the temple between 12 and 2 o'clock to give the visiting Shriners plenty of room for their parade.

George T. Prim, chief of police, requests all drivers to keep off the following streets during the hours he has designated: College-ave between Drew and Union-sts. Union-st between College-ave and Washington-st. Washington-st between Union-st and Park-ave. Park-ave between Washington-st and College-ave.

Shriners made a similar trip in 1916, creating widespread interest, but this will be the highest pilgrimage in its history. A trip to the imperial council session at Los Angeles, Calif., according to the annual custom, was abandoned this year so the Tripoli members could visit their own state.

Three vast ceremonials will be held enroute, one at Superior June 23, Eau Claire June 24 and LaCrosse June 25. Hundreds will be initiated into the Shrine at these gatherings with all the pomp and thrills that accompany the fall and spring ceremonials at Milwaukee. Appleton is to take part in a ceremonial that will be held later in the summer at Menasha.

Charlie Dawes' Dog Merico Tires Of Life As Vice Presidential Pet

Evansville, Ill.—Some are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them. Merico was born a scrool. Greatness was thrust upon him. But the pit from which he was dug yawned beside the paths of fame, and Merico descended therein. So now he is a bum.

Two years ago Merico, a wire-haired terrier of nameless origin, wagged his tail in the window of a pet shop here.

DAWES BUYS HIM

Came Charles Gates Dawes, owner of a sleek pussy and a blasphemous parrot that says "Hell 'n Maria." He wanted another pet.

So Merico became Dawes' property, and when the master was elevated to the vice presidency Merico became the second highest scrool in the land.

Now up to this time Merico had found life all to the mustard.

The Dawes' street was quiet and broad. It was well studded with trees and telephone poles, and Merico had lived the sameness of life of the ordinary pup.

But one day last spring Dawes, the master, dusted off a silk hat and rode away to Washington.

Then Merico found life getting complex.

He was pointed out as the vice president's dog. He was not allowed to mingle with plebeian dogs. Nocturnal ramblings were frowned upon.

Poodles, no less, made bold to sniff him when their dainty mistresses called at the Dawes mansion.

MERICO GOES BAD

So Merico got fed up.

He ran away one night. He visited every corner in the neighborhood. He rifled garbage cans, he rolled in alleys, he consorted with the unkempt and the nosome.

In broad daylight he was brought back by the police, an offense to the eye and the nose.

Nels Benson, Dawes' chauffeur, made him presentable again.

But Merico's fall was complete. He ran away again.

Three days later he came back, sadly in need of a bath. Benson decided Merico must have been fraternizing with goats.

Again Benson straightened him up, pleading with him like a father.

Merico, however, had tasted the flesh pots of Egypt and sold his soul to strange gods. He would not reform.

Again and again he disgraced himself. Benson was worn to a frazzle. The Evansville police have rescued Merico from the canine Tenderloin more times than they can count.

NO REFORM IN SIGHT

Merico declares he is through being a model dog.

It got so that low dogs jeered at him, he says, and hunted that he slept in a perfumed wicker basket. He was accused of being up stage.

So now, having kicked completely over the traces, he admits that his fall from grace is both thorough and permanent.

Merico has gone to the dogs—and alley dogs at that.

Greatness was thrust upon him. But once a scrool, always a scrool. Sad is the fall of Merico.

FOUND BEES AND BUTTERFLIES ON MOUNT EVEREST

Naturalist Finds Traces of Animal Life High Above Himalayan Snow Line

By Associated Press

London—The cannibal spiders that live near the top of Mt. Everest exist at higher altitudes than any other animals known to man. They were described to the Royal Geographical society by Major R. W. G. Hingston, naturalist of the Mt. Everest expedition of 1924.

These spiders live in islands of broken rock surrounded by snow and ice, and for food they eat one another. Traces of this permanent animal existence were found far above the Himalayan snow line, and some 4,000 feet above the last vegetable growth, Major Hingston explained.

A general idea of the natural life on the mountainous desert of the Tibetan plateau was given in the lecture. The atmosphere is so dry that the skin and nails of human beings split, and the ordinary decomposition of flesh is prevented altogether.

Wild sheep and mountain hares climb up the ranges, even to the barren slopes at 17,000 feet. "There is a little red-start which builds its nest at the same inhospitable height, and we found grasshoppers at 18,000 feet near the furthest limit of vegetable growth," Major Hingston declared.

"There were bees, moths and even butterflies at 21,000 feet," he said, "and cloughs, a kind of crow, at the immense height of 27,000 feet."

To contend with the scarcity of food in those regions, some of the birds had specially modified bills for digging into frozen soil, so that they might reach hibernating insects. Burrowing and hibernating are the means by which many animals escape the extreme cold and manage to exist.

Some birds formed communities with mammals. Many little birds associated with mouse-hares, and there was perfect confidence and harmony among them. At greater heights, on the almost barren mountains, was an association of cloughs and wild sheep. The clough sits on the sheep's back, and searches for insects in the animal's hair.

Recent tests show that silk thread used on stringing pearls should not be dyed or contain chemicals, as the lustre of the pearls may be destroyed.

The first band concert of the season was given Thursday night by Carroll Waupaca band. Thousands of visitors were in the city from the lakes and surrounding country. Cars were parked in choice positions as early as noon so as to secure a favorable location.

Waupaca baseball team will line up as strongly as possible against the Ford Motors of Wisconsin Rapids at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at Penny park. The Motors are said to be one of the strongest teams ever representing their city. The locals expect to line up about like this: Mundingers pitcher; Wood on catcher; Smith the batter; they are semipro from the Fox River valley. Solms of LaCrosse Normal at first; Shambau on second; Krueger at short; Klatt on third. The outfield with Pope in center, and two other high class gardeners to help him. is expected to take care of everything in that territory. It is reported that Steele, now manager of the Indian Crossing casino and a new man by the name of Paulson of the Manitowish Shipbuilders team, will be in the outfield with Pope. Jay Cornwall will umpire.

NOTED RACING DRIVER BUYS BUICK MACHINE

Youthful Winner of Memorial Day Speed Carnival Tells His Story

Peter DePaolo, youthful winner of the Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race at Indianapolis, Ind., spent a day in Flint, Michigan on his way to Altoona, Pa., where he will enter the 250-mile race on June 18th, and purchased a Buick car.

DePaolo's story as to why he decided to buy a Buick is a novel one, while he was preparing for the big race he gained the friendship of Bill Alexander of the Marvel Carburetor Company, who was at the speedway in the interests of his company. Bill had a Buick fifty-five, and during the week previous to the race used it to tow the racing car from its garage to the speedway for practice spins.

DePaolo took such a liking to Bill's Valve-in-Head Buick that when he won his laurels together with the $38,000 in prize money, he decided to buy one like it.

The superstitions under which men who risk their lives often place themselves was humorously told by Alexander.

"On the last night before the 500-mile grind, someone backed another large car up to the garage to tow the DePaolo car to the track, but Pete would have none of it. 'Where is Bill and his Buick?' he asked. 'I'll not allow anyone else to tow my car at this stage of the game. I don't want to be jinxed by changing tow-horses in the middle of the stream.'"

"Pete has a young son twenty months old and for luck he has a pair of little Tom's shoes tied to the front of this racing car."

DePaolo expressed himself as being proud of his new car.

"You see, I bought a reasonably priced car," he said "and now people won't be going around saying I made a little money and am now squandering it."

DePaolo appeared inclined to take his honors modestly. He admitted that it took a lot of courage to drive in all races of that nature and said that all drivers would agree with him.

"If there is one thing I owe my success to," he said, "it is that I am always around to oversee what goes on at all times where my car is concerned. You know you must have everything right all the time. In this game where your life is at stake every minute you have to know things are right. You cannot be in a fatal accident and go hurtling through space at a speed of 100 miles an hour into eternity, and then go back and bawl someone out for doing the wrong thing. Consequently, I always want to know that everything is right the best way to know is to do it yourself."

FORD USED CAR PLAN ATTRACTS MUCH INTEREST

All Authorized Ford Dealers Place Guarantee on Second Hand Cars

Much interest has centered during the last week in the announcement of the Ford user car plan. This interest has been evidenced by both the public and the automotive industry generally, for it is the first move made by any large automobile concern toward solution of the so-called user car problem.

Under the plan, which is supervised by the company, all authorized Ford dealers place a guarantee upon used Ford cars sold by them, thus insuring to the purchaser satisfactory mechanical operation of the cars under ordinary driving conditions.

Reports received during the week from branches throughout the country it was said at the offices of the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit, indicate two things—greater buyer confidence on the part of the public and a general feeling among Ford dealers that the plan is certain to promote customer satisfaction.

These reports, it was said, are not based upon expressions from Ford dealers alone. They also include public reaction toward the plan as reflected through the vast dealer organization which, because of its extensiveness, is an excellent barometer of automobile marketing conditions.

Another feature of the reports is the ready acceptance of the plan by the dealers themselves and their enthusiasm over it. They feel that the new arrangement, together with their own fitness of judging car values and facilities for reconditioning cars when it is necessary, places them in position to afford much better service to people in the market for used Ford cars.

On the basis of the reports so far received the plan promises an effective solution for user car handling by Ford dealers and one in which the public will benefit.

LIKENESS TO FORD SEEN IN CHRYSLER'S PROGRESS

Sales Expansion of Maxwell-Chrysler Organization to $120,000,000 Annual Basis Recalls Similar Days in Ford Motor Company

CAREERS OF TWO INDUSTRIAL GIANTS COMPARED

ANNOUNCEMENT that the volume of Maxwell-Chrysler sales are exceeding $120,000,000 per year emphasizes the amazing growth of the organization headed by Walter P. Chrysler. Within four years, under Mr. Chrysler's leadership, it has grown to be one of the largest American industrial concerns. The strides it has made, and its known plans for the future, have resulted in recent weeks in numerous comparisons of the careers of the automotive industry's two foremost men—Henry Ford and Mr. Chrysler himself.

For a dozen years the identity of the latter was largely submerged in his work. Within the industry itself he was widely known as a master of production—second only to Mr. Ford in the magnitude of his operations.

But to the world at large, until a few years ago, he was almost an unknown quantity.

Then with startling suddenness and speed his name began to assume a large importance. To the public it seemed the beginning of a very successful and intensely interesting career. Actually it was the culmination before the public eye of a long period of preparation behind the scenes of a score of gigantic manufacturing operations.

Like Henry Ford, Chrysler had humble beginnings. His first work was that of an engine wiper in a little town of Ellis, Kans. Like Mr. Ford he was, and is, highly individual, highly national, and always interesting. The two names began to link themselves together.

Quick to utilize comparisons, those in the industry who know both men began to parallel the careers of Ford and Chrysler.

With bluntness comparable to that of Mr. Ford, Walter Chrysler disposes of this question in a few short sentences.

"Henry Ford," he said the other day, "is pre-eminent. He pre-continued increase in retail sales of Oldsmobiles and a general feeling that business conditions are good throughout the greater portion of the country is reported by D. S. Eddins, General Sales Manager of Oldsmobile Works. The Oldsmobile factory entered a June with advance orders that will assure it full production throughout the month, and indications are that July production will be satisfactory.

Sales of Oldsmobiles during May were more than 36 per cent greater than during the same month last year. This is the third consecutive month that Oldsmobile sales have shown a substantial increase over those for the same periods in 1924.

"The northwestern section of the country is showing remarkable prosperity, according to both the reports and orders received by our distributors and dealers in that section," said Mr. Eddins. "This excellent showing is extending practically without a break from the western shore of Lake Michigan to the Pacific Coast."

"Other sections of the country which have not shown such remarkable gains as has the northwest are reporting improved conditions and every indication points to steady, continued prosperity for Oldsmobile."

"Our export business is steadily gaining. During May we shipped nearly 600 Oldsmobiles abroad, and so far this year our exports are larger than they have been at any time in our 25 years of manufacture."

empts his particular field beyond hope of rivalry. Only one man in a generation can hope to contribute so much to the economic well being of the world. I am perfectly conscious that a comparison of my career with his is a compliment and of value—but I cherish no delusions. He stands alone and always will."

Men in close touch with the automotive industry still marvel at the progress the Chrysler made in the year following its presentation to the public. Before its introduction many were frankly skeptical. It was the opinion of most of the best informed men that a new car could not be produced and win a major place because of conditions existing in the industry. Yet the Chrysler was accepted by the motoring public as no car had ever been accepted before in its first year. In that year it attained a volume, both in number of cars produced and in sales in dollars that exceeded those of any other car ever made.

With bluntness comparable to that of Mr. Ford, Walter Chrysler disposes of this question in a few short sentences.

HEAT TREATMENT IS EMPHASIZED IN REO FACTORY

Experts Constantly Conduct Experiments to Improve Quality

"A trip through the shops of the Reo Motor Car Company in Lansing, Michigan, reveals the fact that, for Reo at least, the heat treatment of metals is one of the most important phases of motor car manufacture," says Mr. Schneider, representative of Reo in this city.

"In the metallurgical division of the research laboratories, experts are constantly experimenting in an effort to find additional processes for the successful handling of this most important material in the building of automobiles. Comparable attention to the treatment of the steel being used in actual production is given in the large portion of the main shops devoted to this work."

"For the treatment of all major parts, electric furnaces are used. This type of furnaces make the greater accuracy in the regulation of temperatures possible, and produces the best possible results, Reo engineers believe."

"A very careful selection of alloy steels and a correspondingly close attention to their treatment is also included in the manufacture of Reo cars. Speed Wagons, and busses. The alloy steels are selected, of course, because of their particular qualifications to withstand certain kinds of strains, but it is believed that Reo has done an unusually fine job in giving them just the right balance of hardness, toughness, and tensile strength."

"This is a phase of manufacture the results of which are not discernible in the new car as it stands on the show room floor. Constant service and laboratory tests reveal the worth of the heat treating processes, and Reo is continually employing both of these methods to check its results."

tinguished himself particularly during the world war when he was in charge of Dodge Brothers Ordnance division. Since then he has acted as assistant production manager.

LA FOLLETTE'S SUCCESSOR

Wisconsin's great political question now is, who is to succeed La Follette? Press dispatches seem to indicate that Governor Blaine has been selected by the innermost powers as the legitimate heir. There is a story to the effect that he will have the endorsement of Robert La Follette, Jr., for United States senator, and if that is the case it is tantamount to a decision to make Blaine the leader in all things La Follettian. There is nothing inconsistent in this decision and it was to be expected. There are now two senatorships, theoretically, at the disposal of the Progressives, and a governorship. This should satisfy the ambitions of both Blaine and Ekern, with room to spare. We may expect to see, however, more aspirants than there are offices. Beneath the surface there is a deep and bitter division in the Progressive ranks. There are several factions, variously related, and variously antagonistic. It looks as though there would be an athletic scramble for the plums that Mr. La Follette's death has suddenly caused to appear on the political tree.

Regardless of who wins the nominal or actual successorship to La Follette, the future of the Progressive cause in Wisconsin is none too auspicious. The men the late senator has left behind him are little men. They have no capacity to serve a great cause, no personality, none of the qualities for distinguished leadership. They are of mediocre talent and can never command the confidence of a great number of voters. They are tricky, dissembling, opportunist politicians. It is the only road to power they know. The contrast between Mr. La Follette and them will be painful. It will not do for them to stand upon "the La Follette platform," for shorn of the towering personality of its author, it becomes an academic and rather lifeless thing. Moreover, they do not agree as to what that platform is.

We have had plenty of dissenting leaders like La Follette, but when they pass from the scene of action their personal following passes with them, and cannot be entailed to a successor. Theodore Roosevelt was a conspicuous example. For a time much noise will be made about the high obligations of carrying on the unfinished work of the late senator. Great things will be promised in his name, but they will fail to materialize. No longer will the magic name of "La Follette Progressive" elect a supervisor, a sheriff, a coroner, a what-not. The machine will go to pieces. Internecine strife will hasten the disintegration. The day of moderation and reason and conservative progress ought not to be far ahead in Wisconsin. We think the reaction against the legacies of Senator La Follette will be pronounced. If more solid men can be induced to enter public life, they will be, we are certain, favorably received. With the passing of Mr. La Follette the people are ready for a change in state government and state policies.

WHY A TARIFF COMMISSION?

President Coolidge after long hesitation and delay finally decided to ignore the recommendation of the tariff commission for a reduction of the duty on sugar. He gives as his reason the drop in the wholesale price of granulated sugar from 8.4 cents per pound, when the commission took up the question in 1923, to 4.27 a month ago.

This is consistent protection logic. It is what the facts warrant to an extreme protectionist like the president, notwithstanding it is in opposition to the workings and intent of the so-called flexible tariff law.

The commission made its findings many months ago. Even then when the price was not so low, Mr. Coolidge tucked the report away and took no action. It was evident that he did not agree with the conclusions of the commission or its recommendations. While the president has the authority to follow the course he has elected, it negates the value of the tariff commission and its functions.

If the commission's recommendations are not to be followed and the president is to overrule them at will to satisfy a policy that is plainly in conflict with the spirit of the law, then the commission might as well be abolished. The only times the "flexible" feature of the law has been applied is for revision of rates upward. It would seem to be evident that the occasion will not arise under the present administration for lowering the rates. If the tariff commission is to survive it is time the consumer commenced to pray and pray devoutly.

A CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

A well-to-do southern woman some time ago gave $25,000 to the hospital in her community for the construction and equipment of a modern, homelike children's ward. When it was said to be finished she went to see it. She was disappointed. All she saw was a regular children's ward with plain walls and white beds. She exclaimed:

"Why, this is just like a hospital! It smells like a hospital." The woman wrote another check for $5,000 and superintended the spending of it herself. Her work in the children's ward was finished the other day. And this is the description of that hospital room now:

The 30 plain white beds have become 40 gaily decorated glimmer places. The walls of the room are painted a restful gray, broken here and there with designs and pictures interpreting the eternally loved fairy tales and nursery rhymes. Even the electric fans did not escape the paint brush. They now hint somehow of bouquets of roses. There are simple but pretty curtains at the windows, and there are beds of flowers or flower boxes just outside the windows through which a pleasant fragrance comes. And all about are toys and games suitable for convalescent little folks.

It is, of course, necessary that a hospital ward be easily kept clean and that it be so arranged and equipped that the patients can be taken care of with little fuss or delay. But it appears quite possible to relieve the barren appearance formerly inevitable in hospitals. And the cheerfulness supplied by attractive surroundings help almost as much in restoring health as do the medicines and nursing.

THE TOURIST

An American company, it is announced, will build a chain of hotels in Mexico. The purpose of course, will be American tourists. Our people like to go into strange countries. Therefore, to attract them, those countries make themselves less strange.

An American tourist is supposed to go away from home for the purpose of having just what he already had better at home. So he must have American food and service. American ways of getting around, and American jazz with his meals. At least, so the caterers to American tourist trade assume.

However, if these comfortable absurdities will attract tourists to Mexico, they will find other things to make it worth while, too.

We go across the Atlantic to see a Europe less picturesque, and across the continent and the Pacific to see an Orient only a little more so, while, at our doors, is one of the most interestingly exotic countries in the world.

Climatically, Central Mexico ranks with the tourist resorts of the world. Scenically, there is no more attractive land. And humanly, there is a combination of cultures, the oldest and finest of Europe and the most strangely picturesque of primitive Indian America.

To see these things across the ocean costs months where Mexico costs weeks and thousands where Mexico costs hundreds. And there are practical and business reasons for knowing Mexico which do not exist for Europe.

Altogether, it is a good thing if our wandering imaginations turn southward, instead of always east or west.

THE LABOR OF SITTING

Much labor has been expended on the construction of chairs. Much thought and energy has been applied to the designing of seats. The chair builder requires three things for success in his art: No mean skill, recommendations from the posture control committee of the American Society for the Control of Everything, and a few odds and ends of lumber.

Some folk like chairs to sit up in. Some want chairs they can sit down in. And some insist on chairs that one can neither sit nor lie in, but just a little of both.

The chair and seat builders, no doubt are as hard put to it to please us all as are the shoe builders. Here a few years ago a group of us doctors, casting about for something to correct, hit upon shoes. We conducted "surveys" and all that sort of thing, until we arrived at some definite conclusions as to what kind of shoes people ought to wear, and we persuaded the shoe maker to build the shoes according to our conclusions, which were that the last should have either a straight inside sole line, or an inward flare or an outward flare. So that settled the shoe question. Now let us straighten out the chair evil.

The labor that has been put into the designing and building of chairs is as nothing at all compared with the energy that is spent in just sitting in chairs. This does not include the incalculable amount of power that is expended in propelling rocking chairs. A rocking chair isn't a chair, anyway. It is simply a means of conveyance. But any and every kind of chair, from the revolving swivel chair to the most luxurious easy chair, demands some degree of muscular action if you sit in it. The most comfortable chair you may select uses up some muscle energy. The rate of metabolism is always considerably higher when the individual sits in a chair than it is when the individual lies in bed—and that is why physicians will not allow certain patients, who feel able, to sit in a chair. You can't fully relax, you see, unless you assume the horizontal posture. Complete relaxation is complete rest, and this is essential, with most people, for sleep.

The chair builders, bedeviled by the demands of the public, turn out a lot of weird contraptions these days which are a cross between seats and beds. The things are odd and sometimes beautiful at first sight; and if you have a brief try at one you may imagine it is wonderfully comfortable and order it sent up to the house then and there (if you have the amount of the first installment with you). But think twice. I warn you for after you get the darn thing home and ready for occupancy you'll find it is of little use, for you seldom feel tired enough to slump down in it until you are so sleepy you have to go to bed. It just takes up room and becomes an eyesore like the what not.

The wise plan, perhaps, is to keep away from chairs as much as possible. They are at the best poor compromise with the rest posture, which is horizontal. If you're a sedentary person and feel you must do a lot of reading at night, get into bed and read, where your muscles, bones and ligaments are relaxed and at rest. Of course you must arrange the light so that you will not overtax your eyes. But for ordinary well folk reading in bed is unobjectionable—and in the horizontal posture you have old man gravity temporarily checkmated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Skinsy Winnie.

Please tell me if olive oil and raw eggs and milk are good to take. I am an awful Skinsy Winnie and would like to gain some if possible. (C. M. F.)

Answer—If you like olive oil and raw eggs and milk they're good food. But as a rule cod liver oil is better than olive oil to gain weight on. And cooked eggs are better than raw eggs. Milk is indifferent—you must drink at least two quarts of pure fresh raw milk daily besides your ordinary diet, to gain. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for further suggestions for putting on weight.

Save the Blankets.

When a patient has pneumonia, and the blankets and other bed clothing have been washed and aired is there any danger in using them again? How about the mattress? (S. M. F.)

Answer—Ordinary laundering makes any such bed clothes perfectly safe to use again. If a mattress has been soiled, have it sterilized, or remove the cover and have it laundered, or if it is grossly soiled by excretions or discharges in any infectious disease, better burn the mattress. A mattress properly protected by sheets in such an illness as pneumonia, is not infected and requires no particular treatment to make it safe for other persons to use.

Billy Evans is writing his life story in a magazine. It is a remarkable story, remarkable because few umpires ever live to write their life stories.

A bunch on the street last night were discussing the possibility of Gov. Blaine's coming out as a candidate to succeed Sen. La Follette. One man said, "Well, I think he deserves it, and I'll vote for him if, for no other reason than to get him out of the state."

ANSWERED

Several days ago this column printed the following poem:

IS IT?
A man has written to Pastor Stacks
To ask if it's sinning if one says
"Damn."
When he finds that in paying his income tax
He erred in favor of Uncle Sam.

Now a man who has been a minister himself ventures a reply:

ISN'T IT?

The preacher replied, with pen in hand,
"Income tax" I don't understand!
Yes, 'damn' is bad, and 'hell' is worse,
But a preacher's income makes me curse."

There is something like magic about a whistle. Take a man on the street sunning himself or twining his thumbs; when the 12 o'clock whistle blows, he gets up and shuffles home.

We hear that Mr. Dempsey who is abroad will not visit Sweden. We can readily understand that for that is the country where matches are made.

When you get the urge to argue with a traffic cop remember that it is easier to get bawled out than to be tailed out.

You don't hear any more kicks about the gasoline tax. That's easy to explain. Most everybody has a car and so most everybody has to pay the tax. It usually is only the non-taxpayer who does the most kicking.

ROLLO

Saturday Sermon

(The following sermon was prepared especially for the Post-Crescent by the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt, pastor of Emanuel Evangelical church.)

Text: "Ye ought to walk and please God." I Thes. 4:1.

Religion is life. A walk implies motion, progression, a continual approach to a definite goal. It may be impossible to live so as to please men but in the text there is set forth the command to live so as to please God. A most powerful incentive to a holy life is the thought, the Lord taketh pleasure in His people. To enjoy the sense of the approval of God fills the cup of happiness to the brim. The world frowns in vain if God smiles upon us with His approval. Among the many impossible things that we attempt to do is to please men.

Folks are various. What pleases some displeases others. There are hardly two people alike. Folks are also so variable. What pleases today displeases tomorrow. It may be our duty to please men as far as possible, yet is hard to name a single subject where you can please altogether. As well might one try to fly to all points of the compass at the same time as to try to please all men at once.

THEY ALL FAIL

The best men in the past failed at this point. Prophets, apostles, martyrs and the saints of all ages have failed. Jesus our Divine Lord and Master failed. He emptied Himself, bent all His energies to enlighten and bless, fed the hungry, healed the sick, opened the eyes of the blind, gave hearing to the deaf and even raised the dead to life. Did He please men? The Father was well pleased with Him. The people said that He had a devil. They strove to catch Him in His words. They plotted against Him, mistreated Him shamefully, crucified Him.

God finds it impossible to please all men. Did you ever listen to the murmurings against God? If folks have nothing to complain about there is always the chance to find fault with the weather. It would almost seem that every thing might and would be better if we folks had our own way and would not be compelled to submit to the hand of God.

It is, however possible to please God. Ye ought to walk and please God is the exhortation. God takes special delight in His creatures. Every true effort on the part of man to attain righteousness, justice, holiness and perfect love delights the great heart of the Heavenly Father. The saints of old had the witness that they pleased God. We think of Enoch, Noah, Job, Abraham, etc. What men have done men may do. God change not. "I am the Lord, I change not." The things which have pleased God in the past will delight Him even today.

ALL ARE SHOWN

God has revealed Himself to His creatures that they may know how to delight their Maker. He has not left us merely to spell out from the stars that are above us or from the rocks that are beneath us that which is pleasing to Him. He has given us His own holy word which tells us in detail how to live the God-pleasing life. He has given us a perfect example of One in whom He, the Father, was well pleased, even Jesus the Christ. Him we should hear. He has promised us divine help that we may walk worthy before our Maker.

"My grace is sufficient for thee." Even when our performances be very imperfect, God who knows us perfectly, sees our righteousness of purpose, appreciates our upright intentions and instead of condemning us, He speaks unto us as David of old. "It is well that it was in thine heart." Long enough have we tried and failed to please men. Time and again have we attempted to please our-

LEAGUE WANTS BETTER BOSS IN OLD UNCLE SAM

Civil Service League Aims to Take Inconsistencies Out of Federal Business

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C. — "Watch the government and report the facts" is the slogan that has been adopted by the newly organized Civil Service League of the District of Columbia. The quotation is credited to will Rogers and surprise has been expressed that so serious an organization as the league should turn to the well known larrikin-throwing humorist for inspiration. By way of explanation a story is told of how Rogers happened to make the statement.

It seems that Rogers recently had an interview with President Coolidge and failed. Shall we not attempt the same? Ye ought to tempt God. One thing is very certain from the Bible and that is, "They that are in the flesh cannot please God." However, "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." A man in Christ then is in position to carry out the exhortation. "Ye ought to walk and please God."

"O Lord, I would delight in thee. And on thy care depend; To thee in every trouble flee, My best, my only friend."

"When all created streams are dried, Thy fullness is the same; May I with thee be satisfied, And glory in thy name."

"O Lord, I cast my care on thee; I triumph and adore; Henceforth my great concern shall be, To love and praise thee more."

Name Three Delegates To State Meet

Mrs. Matt Bauer, Mrs. Mike Steinhauer and Mrs. Joseph Bellin have been elected delegates to the state convention of the United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary which will be held in Sheboygan on July 1, 2 and 3. Their alternates are Mrs. Mabel Ross and Mrs. Aaron Zorbel and Miss Mabel Ross. The election was held Tuesday evening at the business meeting which preceded the card party, the last social event of the season for the auxiliary. Members of the C. O. Baer camp, United Spanish War Veterans were invited to be present at the party.

Seven tables were in play during the evening. Prizes at cards were won by Matt Bauer, Fred Morris, Miss Mabel Ross and Mrs. Ervange. Line Farwell of Kaukauna. McTangle

Isn't it splendid that the first scenario I have ever written will be put on the screen? Of course, it probably wouldn't have been if my husband had not been the production manager and if I had not known Mrs. Selwyn.

She came in the other day when I was rather low in my mind. I had had this sad letter from you about Leslie, another friend of mine had written me the story of the unhappiness she was having with her husband, and that morning for the first time, Dick had gone away without kissing me.

I was so full of the whole thing that I brought the conversation around to how much a woman must bear from her husband before she leaves him. I knew that Mrs. Selwyn had left her husband before he died, and I knew also that she had stuck to him, and I also wanted to know what she thought of the subject. After a little hesitation Mrs. Selwyn said: "I'm going to recite to you the history of a friend of mine, Beatrice, and let you decide for yourself if you think she did right.

"Do you know, my dear, I believe there comes times in the lives of every married couple when each wishes the other was not there. "No," she continued as I started to interrupt, "I don't mean that this time only comes after a violent quarrel or some terrible wrong that has been done by the other. It can come after some of the most trivial differences. One of those thousand and one tremendous trifles which seem 'Like God Almighty's devils singing small.'"

"Humans of both sexes usually are able to cope with the big affairs of life. It is only the little pin pricks, the little things that nag and annoy like midges, bites, that wear away one's patience and turn love to frosty content."

"Some people say there is only one excuse for divorce. I believe the great state of New York makes that the only excuse to legally separate two people. You have to know, my dear, a little about the inner lives of any of your friends, however, to know that infidelity is excused perhaps oftener than lesser and more troubling evils.

"To get back to my friend's story. It happened some years ago, my dear, at that terrible critical period in marriage when both husband and wife awake to the fact that they are beginning to grow old.

"They both came to this tragic conclusion at about the same time, and for the wife it was more terrible than for the husband; for she was a year older than he, and you know that means ages when both man and woman are on the shady side of 40." (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.) TOMORROW — This letter continued.

"I tried different remedies but none seemed to do any good. Your Car Overheats—?

OILS of low quality break down under the strain of hot weather operation. Broken-down oil means metal-to-metal contact—burned-out bearings—big repair bills. The difference in long life and short life, high operating costs and low, motoring as a pleasure and motoring as a bother—depends on the quality of a thin film of oil.

The difference in cost of low and high quality lubricants is negligible. Lubrication is one of the smallest items in car operation cost. But the results of incorrect lubrication are out of all proportion to the difference in cost of good and poor oils.

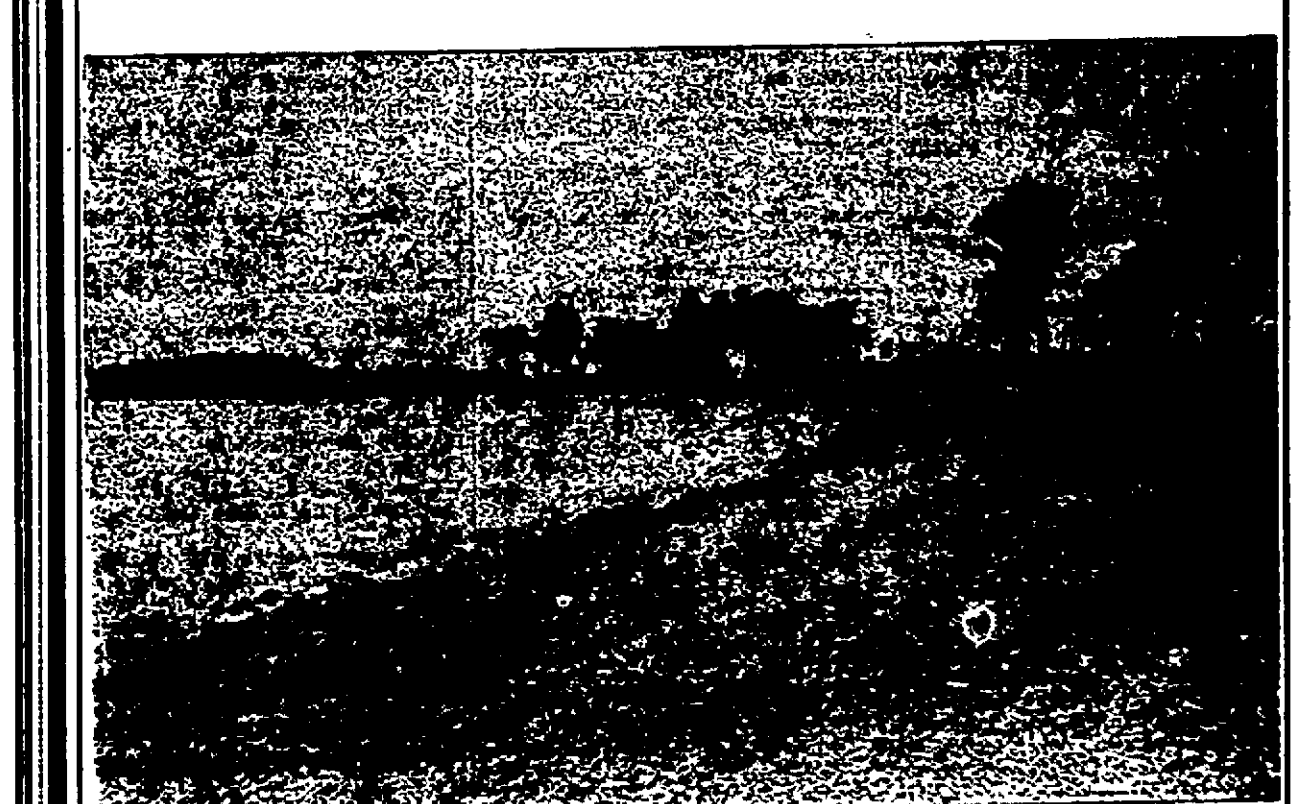

We sell Lubrication Insurance—in the form of Gargyle Mobiloil. We'll drain and refill your crank-case with the correct grade of this high quality lubricating oil—you pay only for the oil.

Then you can forget lubrication—except to replenish your supply as needed, with the same grade of Gargyle Mobiloil.

MAYOR, COUNCIL COMPROMISE ON SEWER MACHINE

City Fathers Decide to Purchase Second Hand Trench Filling Outfit

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—A compromise was made Friday evening in the city hall between the city council and the mayor on the sewer backfilling machine.

A second hand machine was purchased at a cost of $275, from Mr. Mierswa, of Oshkosh. The machine was inspected by local officials and said to be in good condition. It will be remodeled to the extent of about $250.

Aldermen Meinhardt and Clark voted against the proposition. The council also voted to order at once all of the equipment for the fire department which was recommended by the police and fire commission and also added a few extra articles, including 500 feet of double jacketed hose.

Aldermen Knapstein, Clark and Poeple were appointed on the board of review which will meet in July to adjust tax claims. A sewer was ordered laid on Beacon-ave, from Oshkosh-st 150 feet west. More fire protection was ordered for the fire department. The city council and the fire department agreed to purchase a 700 feet of 6-inch water main, to be laid on the Chicago and Northwestern right of way, east of the plant, providing that the permit is issued by the railroad. The council also ordered two hydrants and a 16 inch valve to go with it. Further possibilities will be inspected by the board of public works.

About 1,450 feet of 8-inch pipe will be laid from Waupaca-st, one block north on Lima-st, and the rest one block north on the Hamilton property and two blocks east in order to give adequate fire protection to the Hamilton cannery plant. Two valves and two hydrants will also be installed. The city clerk was authorized to purchase all the necessary material needed for the construction.

NEW CHIEF DIRECTS
PRACTICE FIRE RUN

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The local fire department made a fast practice run with both trucks at 7 o'clock Friday evening. The run was made to the lot southwest of the Chicago and Northwestern depot where the Four Wheel Drive jumper was connected to a hydrant and tested. Both trucks were used, as probably will always be the case in the future. A large crowd watched the practice. The exhibition was under the direction of the new chief, Charles Rogers.

Herman Laddin, a truck driver of the Chicago fire department with which he has been connected for 15 years, is spending a few days with William Hard of this city, and was present at the practice Friday evening. He complimented the department upon its fast and precise work, and said that the local fire fighters performed excellent work with their amount of equipment. He also gave them some valuable tips on how fire fighting is carried on in the larger cities.

Hilbert Bocher and Harley Johnson were appointed delegates to the state convention which will be held in Wauwatosa July 5 and 6, and Hilbert Bocher was made delegate to the national convention, which is to be held in Milwaukee, July 7, 8 and 9. They will be accompanied by the Rev. Mr. Olson.

Study and devotional meetings of the new club will be held the first Wednesday of the month. They are to be held in the church parlors and in the homes of the various members.

Wanted! Your Opinion On The Subject of This Letter

Last week the following letter was received by this theatre:

"Dear Mr. Lutz: As patrons of Fischer's Appleton Theatre, we are taking this privilege of giving a suggestion that we are sure would be appreciated by many other Appleton movie fans as well as by us.

Many pictures come that we are not able to see at the time, and later when we hear others talking about those pictures, we are sorry that we did not see them. We suggest that you have a 'Rival Week' like they do in many other places and get back some of the outstanding pictures like 'The Sheik', 'The Four Horsemen' and 'Broken Blossoms'.

We are very anxious to see all of the above mentioned movies, especially the first two in which Rodolph Valentino won so much fame.

We hope that you will give our suggestion a little consideration, and that you will try if possible, to carry it out. Yours very truly, Several Fischer's Appleton Patrons."

We thank you for your letter even though anonymous. We are glad to have our patrons give us suggestions on how we may improve our service to them or inaugurate features which will further serve to strengthen the bond of good will between this theatre and its patrons. Regarding the above matter, wish to leave the matter open for discussion by our other patrons. We are glad to bring back any picture which we have shown in the past. The question is which ones shall we bring back. May we suggest that our patrons requesting the return of any of the above pictures write us, or write us about any others. If a sufficient number of people write us requesting a return of any photoplay, signing their names, to make it financially possible, we will be more than glad to do so.

Even if a smaller number than is required will write in we will be glad to gamble the balance. Perhaps special matinees could be shown or the photoplay be shown in conjunction with another regular program, or in one or more of a dozen ways could the program be arranged to not inconvenience other patrons. In view of the fact that these photoplays after having once been shown in this theatre can be purchased later for reshowing for a song we would not require the admission price that these photoplays once commanded.

Several hundred surprised and delighted children attended our surprise matinee last Wednesday afternoon. We will hold one of these special matinees every Wednesday afternoon. Remember be on deck early next Wednesday before our supply of surprises runs out.

One Hundred People Saw "The Top of the World", as Guests of Theatre

Nearly three hundred letters were received in response to the tie-up ad the theatre ran in conjunction with local merchants last Tuesday offering prizes of two passes each to first fifty people to mail in to this theatre a story constructed of words found among the ads in parenthesis. Letters were opened in order received from the post office and passes immediately mailed that recipients might have ample time to see this stirring photoplay during its run.

Paramount Buys Stories
Zane Grey has signed with Famous Players-Lasky Corporation a contract carrying the rights to five of his books. The five stories are "The U. P. Trail," "The Man of the Forest," "Desert Gold," "The Desert of Wheat," "The Mysterious Rider."

The bogey that "the motion picture people" try to break down morals with immoral pictures is as much nonsense as to say we try to make people look at pictures which no one wishes to see. We are eager to show the pictures that will bring everyone to the theatre.

A woman hustled aggressively into the office and inquired of the clerk "Did you give Ralph Lewis this marriage license to wed me?" "Er, Yes, I guess I did" was the startled clerk's reply. "Well find him for me then. He has left town."

Community Treasure Hunt Is Arranged for Monday

Fischer's Appleton To Introduce Society's Newest Fad To Appleton

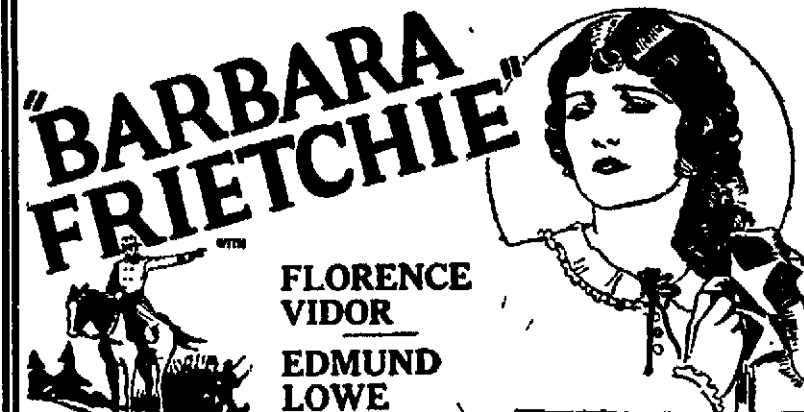

You are invited to a treasure hunt on next Monday night. This theatre is arranging this novelty for its patrons absolutely without charge. Also there are fifty prizes available to the first fifty people to complete the hunt totaling about one hundred dollars in value. Everyone will start out at the theatre on next Monday night at 8:30 P. M. No cards will be given out before so all will have an equal chance. It is estimated that it will take about an hour to complete the course. The card which will be given by the cashier at this theatre to all requesting same will contain the rules of the hunt and give the clue to the first station. At this station upon presentation of the password which will be found on the first card, a second card will be given holding a clue to the next station and so on thru the hunt. It is not practicable to list the prizes to be given at this time as that would disclose the identity of the stations. But each card will list the prizes to be given by that merchant. All alone or with your best girl or in a jolly group of five, you are invited to join in this latest society fad. You will find it far more fun than cross word puzzles. The novelty was begun in the society circles of England and rapidly sprang in favor on this side. Remember the time 8:30 P. M. Monday night and bring along your friends.

Pola Negri's new starring vehicle, "The Charmer," has practically every leading nationality represented. Wallace MacDonald and Robert Frazier are Scotch; Sidney Olcott, the director, is Irish; Miss Negri is Polish; Gertrude Astor is American, and Jimmy Howe, the cameraman, is Chinese.

If you will stand on one foot and say "Zoom, Zoom, Zoom" three times each night before you go to bed none of your children will ever play a bass fiddle.

KITCHEN SOON WILL BE DRIVEN OUT OF HOMES

Babson Sees Great Future for Manufacturers of Household Labor Savers

Babson Park, Mass. — Roger W. Babson today made the radical statement that he believes the kitchen will become extinct in the average home of the future and that common cooking utensils of today will be found only in antique shops. He believes that we are just on the verge now of a new era which will revolutionize housekeeping for women. "Up to the present time," says he, "the term housekeeping meant the task of keeping the house; but from now on it will mean the task of keeping the women interested in the house! This can be done only by practically eliminating the kitchen. The kitchen will be eliminated and great fortunes will be made by those manufacturers and inventors who have a real part therein."

"The recent development of labor-saving machinery and implements for the home, together with the huge increase in the manufacture of food products (which heretofore have been solely in the domain of the individual housewife) are fact changing modern life. These changes will solve one of the most distressing problems disrupting the American family. I have never been able to understand why a well educated, intelligent woman will so readily agree as part of her marriage contract (assuming a man is not wealthy enough to afford servants) to do work which a peasant immigrant girl, with no brain and plenty of muscle, might do just as well. We lament that our young girls are not now trained to make bread, but why should they make bread any more than should their mothers weave cloth and work in the fields as did their grandmothers?"

"Up until a few years ago the kitchen with the hot cook stove, hands red from dish water, back aching from floor scrubbing, washing clothes, sweeping, beating rugs and all the rest of it, was a fact. Some were brave enough to rebel against it, but there it was and women accepted it, although most of our mothers aged ten years before their time as a result. It has seemed to me as preposterous a situation as if business men had to wash the corridors, empty waste baskets, clean the windows and do all the other necessary but menial and uninteresting jobs. Although such jobs must be done, they should be done by those who are not capable or do not care to do more intelligent work."

"We have stood a good deal of humorous satire in recent years as a nation which lives out of a tin can. Our culinary arts are presumed to be non-existent. Whenever this criticism has been raised we have been silent under it. We men have, in fact, joined in this anvil chorus and have moaned about the disappearing of old-fashioned home cooking, the old fashioned wife and all the rest of the sentimental viciousness which has made women bear extremely unfair burdens. Now I am not making an appeal for women to enter industry, as I am still old-fashioned enough to believe that woman's place is in the home the same as the captain's place aboard ship is still in the pilot house."

"What has this to do with finance?" some may ask. My reply is that this is a preface to an appeal that manufacturers of food products should put across the affirmative idea that they have the best cooks in the world; that they have laboratory kitchens in their food factories where highly trained expert chefs prepare the most delicious dishes which are cooked scientifically under the most sanitary conditions; that their breakfast foods, canned goods, and any one of the thousands of articles now being advertised are better prepared today than most housewives could hope for. Our manufacturers also ought to sound the economic freedom from the slave drudgery of primitive methods and devices for the home. We have vacuum cleaners, electric washing machines—101 labor-saving devices—but they are used only by the well-to-do. Breakfast in the modern home can be prepared and served without the housewife leaving the table. Bread is being better baked in huge factories today than mother ever could do it. If this be treason, make the most of it; but remember that the mother of tomorrow is going to live longer and more happily even if she does not get the compliment of being a good cook."

"The real purpose of these comments is to call the attention of bankers and investors to the great future awaiting the better of the corporations now engaged in eliminating the kitchen. It is true that the prices of the stock of many of these companies are already high, (you can pay too much for a gold dollar or a government bond) but as an investment these companies—or rather the industries which they represent—should have a good future."

"Although millions of dollars are being devoted annually to advertising labor-saving devices and preserved foods, there is no intelligent, concerted effort being made to educate the American people as to the fundamental significance, the sanity and healthful revolution in our lives that is all leading toward. The companies selling these articles do not seem to be alive to this situation. There is offered to these companies the chance of summing the key note of what seems to me the most significant phase of our present."

Building Is Steady As Business Slows Down

BY JOHN T. FLYNN

New York—The failure of the wheat market to respond to the national impetus of a government report forecasting a short crop is one of the significant phenomena of the week. Has Government crop forecasting reached such a stage that its effect is of no consequence? Can those critics be right who insist that the Government's forecasting operations can be very well dispensed with?

At all events wheat has actually improved its position. However, the Government's announcement with reference to the late harvest wrought upon the wheat market by the playful mulls and bears is not to be dismissed lightly. It seems fairly well established that the price of wheat, after it had passed $1.60 had been purely the creature of manipulation. Some wheat men say the manipulation was purely technical. That is that it is not the work of any organized band operating to buy or bear the market. It was the result of numerous activities coming without concert from various quarters. Others however insist that the price was up through deliberate misleading of the public through false market information. And that later the price was cut through a well organized short selling campaign. A Washington story insists Mr. Jesse Livermore alone sold 50,000,000 bushels short and thus bore a major part in cracking the price.

Now the department of agriculture says it has investigated all this and that it has not been able to find evidence on which to base any prosecution. But it intimates that it found a lot of evidence of the kind of manipulation which can be prevented by law. Hence at the coming session of Congress, we will see a plan introduced to curtail board of trade operations. The chief idea of the plan, it appears, will be to limit the amount of trading that can be done in one day.

"Whether this will accomplish the purpose in view or not, I do not pretend to say. I asked one of the greatest grain operators in the country what he thought would be the effect."

"It will drive the wheat market to Winnipeg," was the answer.

SUMMER PAUSE APPROACHES

The summer feeling in business comes on apace. The first touches of real heat, the vacation term and a disposition to call a halt in order to look over a more or less perplexing situation have brought things up with a jerk. In the most important of the basic trades—iron—developments have been both good and bad. This has characterized the iron and steel business since the middle of April. June began with a promise of better things but the promise has not, on the whole, been redeemed. But the volume of business has remained about the same, though selling pressure has increased. The steel corporation is around 70 per cent of capacity with a slight reduction at Pittsburgh and Chicago. The independent producers are below this.

As the summer advances some further entertainment is to be expected, also some decline in unfilled orders, particularly in the case of the two leading producers, as each month's rail deliveries take a tonnage from their books that will not be replaced until the beginning of rail buying for 1926, probably in October. However, the comparative steadiness of current mill operations is still in marked contrast with the slump of last year.

MERCHANDISE IS MOVING

However merchandise is moving around the country at a lively rate. Railroad traffic continues to grow and surpass its records of last year. Railroad stocks however have been a little slow in spite of this, but largely because of the fact that operations for the control of roads through mergers have been going on behind the scenes and the investing public is very much in the dark about them. Production is now beginning to feel the effect of the summer season. This is particularly true of the textile trades, where the rate of production is being affected not only by summer conditions, but a desire to work off the surplus production of the winter. However, textile manufacturers are very much in earnest in their belief that they will see better times this fall.

WILL MONEY RISE

As the days go by it is becoming more certain that money will tighten up a bit with the fall. The English return to the gold basis, along with the general improvement in European trade will assist in this movement. Add to this the desire of our own banking authorities to keep our money strong on a parity with that in England and we will have substantial reasons for looking for a stiffening around September. That the Federal Reserve System can accomplish it.

BUILDING OUR MAIN RELIANCE

However while summer time production slows up an extraordinary program of building construction keeps business active. I fear I am too weak ever to refer to this fact without recalling that at the beginning of the year I predicted another year of building that would absorb all our structural resources while most observers were talking about an approaching cut. Building is going on at an unprecedented rate and will keep skilled labor, common labor, material manufacturers and their plants busy at capacity through the summer. The only fly in this ointment is the disposition of skilled labor to demand more money.

THE PRICE STRUCTURE

In the matter of prices the most important development is the coming together of raw material prices and manufactured goods prices. This is altogether a good thing for business. For a long time raw materials have been getting the lion's share in the cost of production. But now we see a balancing between raw goods prices and finished goods prices which will be a sure aid to the manufacturer in the fall. (Copyright by U. P. O. News Service, Inc.)

DURABILITY IS WATCHWORD OF MODERN MILLS

Wisconsin Traction, Light,
Heat and Power Co. Features Electrical Products

One of the chief advantages of the newer electrical appliances over the old, according to H. B. Hallet of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power Co., is that the manufacturers are putting more stress on the durability and lasting qualities of the new appliances. Added to this are the constant number of improvements being added to the newer appliances and the greater precaution taken to insure safety in the operation of electrical appliances.

The new 1900 Cataract electric washing machine is the latest word in convenience, safety and simplicity of operation. The latest feature on the Cataract machine is the safety ringer. A catch lever, which only needs to be pushed with a quick downward shove of the hand lifts the upper roller of the ringer to a position three or four inches above the lower roller, so that if one has accidentally caught his fingers between the rollers, relief is quick and sudden. Besides lifting the upper roll to insure the safety of the person operating the machine, the catch, when shoved down, also stops the rollers from rotating. This will do away with damage to clothes which may be caught in the lower roll.

The Cataract washer is designed to wash clothes absolutely clean, with little wear on them as possible. In fact the wear on clothes from being washed in this machine is almost negligible. Anyone can operate the Cataract with ease because of its extreme simplicity. The soapy water is forced through the clothes both ways thus insuring a thorough cleansing. Cataract washers are of small and large capacity. The large machines have a nine sheet capacity, while the smaller ones have a six sheet capacity.

Another product, sold by the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat, and Power Co., and one that is finding much favor with users of the most modern electrical appliances is the Hamilton-Beach vacuum cleaner. The most thorough way of cleaning, according to Mr. Hallet, is by beating up to loosen the imbedded dirt, a strong sweeping action to stir up the dirt, and a strong suction to draw in the loosened dirt. The Hamilton-Beach cleaner combines all these features. Practically everything in the home can be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner if one has all the attachments which go with the Hamilton-Beach machine. Attachments are made for this cleaner with which one may clean the furniture, ceiling, and walls as well as the rugs. There are especially adapted brushes, tubes, and suction pipes which are used to advantage on the Hamilton-Beach cleaner to scour dirty ceilings, or walls. The vacuum cleaner eliminates the necessity of beating rugs outdoors, and at the same time saves the rugs from wearing out more quickly by being beaten the old fashioned way. The rugs are thoroughly aired by the suction forced from the floor through the carpet into the Hamilton-Beach cleaner is used on them.

Use Found For German Dock

By Associated Press

London—A job has been found at last for the former German floating dock which has been berthed in the Mersey since being delivered under the peace treaty. The admiralty has decided to send it to Malta for service in docking the capital ships of the Mediterranean fleet.

LEGION IS FOR PEACE—BUT BE READY FOR WAR

Commander Keller Declares National Defense Day Is Inventory of Nation's Strength

The American Legion longs for peace if the rest of the world will have it so, but if it cannot have peace then it wants this country to be so prepared that no combination of nations can intimidate this country. L. Hugo Keller, commander of the state department of the American legion, declared in a statement issued Friday in advance of National Defense day which will be observed on July 4. Mr. Keller says the American legion believes in adequate training of the man power of the republic, of adequate equipment and periodical inventory of both.

His statement: "Defense Day" is merely National Inventory Day. If eternal vigilance is the price of liberty then an annual defense day is imperative. The ruthless slaughter of many untrained men in the last war, due entirely to a lack of preparedness compels us as veterans to say "It must not be again."

"The American Legion believes in the adequate training of the man power of the Republic; of adequate and complete equipment and of a periodical inventory of both."

"The American Legion knowing the terrors of war longs for Peace—Peace if others will have it so, but if not then a Defense so perfect that no combination of Nations can intimidate us or make our government afraid."

STAGE And SCREEN

PETERS AND BAGGOT SCREEN NOTED PLAY

Wits instead of fists are used by House Peters to accomplish his purpose in "Raffles," Universal Jewel in which he will star in the Elite Theatre Saturday and Sunday. Screen fans are more familiar with Peters in roles that call for the use of fists, but it is said that he gives a finished performance in his role of an amateur cracksmen under King Baggot's direction. The "Raffles" series famous by E. W. Hornung in his series of fascinating stories published under the character name, and also made into a stage play. The picture version is a combination of some of the Hornung stories and the stage play written by Eugene W. Presbrey.

FOUR BIG STARS IN NEW INCE PICTURES

Parisian cafe scenes are favorite photodrama atmosphere. But the Thomas H. Ince Corp.-First National hit, "Playing With Souls," which comes to the Elite on Monday, is perhaps the first feature to contain replicas of two typical Montmartre night life resorts in full operation. An illustrious cast of players appear in the vivid screen version of Countess de Chambrun's celebrated novel, including Mary Astor, Jacqueline Logan, Clive Brook, Buster Collier and Belle Bennett.

QUEER TWISTS IN ALICE CAL- HOUN FILM

"The Girl in His Room," which will be shown at the New Bijou Theater on Monday and Tuesday, is a production based on a play by J. Raleigh Davies which shows one of life's queer little twists.

Alice Calhoun is cast as a young girl whose mother dies at her birth and whose father refuses to see her. Later he repents and sends her to boarding school. He appears as the agent of her father whom she has never seen. He provides a home by being untrue to a trust. Several complications arise which result in the young girl finding not only happiness for life but a father as well. The action takes place for the most part in the city with a few scenes in a boarding school and a few others in the open.

Alice Calhoun is supported by Warner Baxter, Robert Anderson, Faye O'Neill and Eve Sothern. "The Girl in His Room" was directed by Edward Jose.

CENSUS SHOWS INCREASE IN CAR TRAFFIC

Three Hundred More Cars on Road Than at First Traffic
Count Last Year

A total of 3,588 vehicles passed the corner of E. Wisconsin-ave and N. Leminwah-st on State Trunk Highway 15 between the hours of 6 a. m. and 11 p. m. Wednesday, according to a traffic count taken by John Becher, 1290 S. Onelda-st, and filed with the county highway commission.

The vehicles included 3,096 Wisconsin cars and 195 from other states. A total of 225 light trucks and 45 heavy trucks passed the intersection during the survey hours. Other vehicles included in the count were 18 motorcycles and 6 horse-drawn vehicles. The heaviest traffic was between the hours of 7 to 8 p. m. when 302 vehicles passed Mr. Becher and the lightest was between 12 and 1 o'clock at noon, when 141 vehicles were counted.

The count revealed an increase over the amount of traffic a year ago. On June 19, 1923, a census taker counted 3,269 cars from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night. There were more foreign cars at that time, however, indicating perhaps that traffic to the tourist grounds is starting a little later than last year.

Last year 46 horse drawn vehicles were counted during the day while this year only 9 Dobbins were on the road.

MAPLE CREEK WANTS NEW SCHOOL DISTRICT

Petitions for a new school district to be known as district No. 5, are being circulated in the town of Maple Creek, according to A. G. Matting, county superintendent of schools. Petitions were circulated earlier this month but the boundary lines of the new district was changed by the town board. The new petition will be presented to the town board after which the district will be made if the petition is legal and other requirements are fulfilled. If everything is in proper shape the town clerk calls a meeting at which officers for the new district are elected. If the residents refuse to elect officers the project must be abandoned.

DRUGGISTS HOLD THEIR MEETING AT GREEN LAKE

Most Appleton druggists and their wives are getting ready to attend the forty-fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical association at Green Lake to be held from June 23 to 26. Many men of state and national prominence have been engaged as speaker for the convention, discussions of methods of raising the standards of pharmacy in the state will have a prominent part in the program.

The first day's program will be occupied with business until noon, after which there will be a joint session of the ladies auxiliary and the pharmaceutical association. A hard times party will be the feature of the evening of the first day. A card party will follow the business meetings that are scheduled for the second day, while on the third day important addresses are scheduled, together with the reading of final reports of committees, and election of officers and delegates for the coming year. The convention city or next year also will be chosen. The annual convention banquet will end the third day, and the fourth will be devoted entirely to entertainment.

Make Room for New Build-

One of the oldest machine shops in the Fox river valley which later became the first screen plate works in this part of the state is about to make way for a more modern building. The old structure now is part of the Fox River Paper Co., mill on S. Onelda-st. It is a frame building of two stories, about 80 feet long by 40 feet wide. Old residents estimate its age at more than 50 years, and state that it was constructed by the old Eagle Manufacturing Co., owned by the Salberlich brothers. After this firm moved to its present location the old building was purchased by H. J. Dickerson, who used it as a screen plate mill.

Adventures Of The Twins

OFF TO DADDY GANDER TOWN

Now a funny thing happened when Snitcher Snatch put a grain of magic snuff on everybody's nose.

Nancy sneezed and Nick sneezed and Mister Whiz sneezed and Mayor Snorehead sneezed and Forty Winks sneezed and the policeman sneezed and everybody in Snoozetown sneezed until all the houses rocked on their foundations.

And their aeroplane was lifted up into the air as though a cycle had struck it—and carried far, far away.

"Ah!" cried Snitcher Snatch. "Now these people can't come after me. I'll get the aeroplane myself and fly to the next place."

So he tucked the magic snuff box into his pocket and ran after the aeroplane and when he had found it he jumped in and flew away to the next place, which happened to be Daddy Gander Town.

By this time Mister Whiz and the Twins were wide awake.

"This is a silly place," cried Mister Whiz. "We will all turn into Snatchers if we stay here. Come along, children."

So the Twins and the fairytale left Snoozetown and went to find their aeroplane.

But lo! and behold, it was gone! "Now where do you suppose it is?" cried Mister Whiz. "I left it right here by this telephone pole."

"I know!" called an old crow. "A terrible gust of wind came from Snoozetown and blew it away. It sounded like a hundred sneezes."

"That's exactly what it was," exclaimed Mister Whiz. "Children, we have sneezed our aeroplane away. Now we'll have to do some sprinting and catch up with it."

"Someone else was trying to catch up with it, too," said the crow. "A queer fellow with a long nose and a pair of crooked legs. I heard him say that if he found it, he was going to fly to Daddy Gander Town."

"You are a wide awake fellow, I am sure," said Mister Whiz. "And we are ever and ever so much obliged. Do you know where Daddy Gander Town is?"

"I've heard people say that it is ten miles as the crow flies," said the crow. "But I don't know what that means."

"Where do you fly?" asked Mister Whiz.

"I fly from one corn-field to another," said the crow. "The next corn field is north by north-east on a clear day."

"Could you take us there?" asked Mister Whiz.

"Where? To the corn-field?" asked the crow.

"No, to Daddy Gander Land," said Mister Whiz. "We'll pay you."

"All right," said the crow. "But you'll have to pay me in corn. I charge two corn-grain apiece."

"I haven't a corn-grain about me," said Mister Whiz.

"Then you'll have to walk," cawed the crow as he flew away.

"Magic is just as good," said Mister Whiz cheerfully. "We'll get there some way, children."

LAST CHANCE TO GET IN PAVING PROTESTS

Owners of property abutting on the streets included in this year's paving program will have their last chance to voice protests against the paving assessments on Wednesday night when the city council will meet to conclude paving preliminaries. Assessments of benefits and damages made by the board of public works have been posted for the time allotted by the Wisconsin statutes and the board of public works has held its hearing as provided by law.

Unless property owners voice serious protests against the paving program, on or before Wednesday, the work probably will be started late next week. Commencement of the paving operations already has been delayed several times, and it is essential that a beginning be made as soon as possible in order to get the work done before cold weather sets in.

The council will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening, June 24, in a session adjourned from the last regular meeting. Hearing of protests and the ward of contracts is the only business scheduled for this meeting.

A Wife's Noblest Work

The wife who helps her man to get somewhere is entitled to a whole lot more credit than she usually gets.

Often, she is the one who starts the man on the road to success by leading the way in matters of thrift.

Handicaps there may be, but you can trust the earnest woman to "get over them, through them or around them—any way to leave them behind."

There are a lot of fine women who come here regularly to invest their family savings.

To them all we extend a heartfelt welcome.

SPOILING Thousands for other Cars

The Chrysler Six has brought about a startling and unique motor car situation in motor car ownership.

All over America are families which own two, three, four and even seven Chrysler cars.

There are two main reasons—but they both go straight back to the fact that it is a genuine delight to drive a Chrysler Six.

They go straight back to the fact that the Chrysler Six is an entirely new type of car, built on a new kind of engineering, which produces results radically different from any heretofore registered.

At one extreme are the families which can afford the most expensive chauffeur-driven cars.

Many of these have found a new joy in motor-ing. Men who have not driven their own cars for years are now driving their own Chryslers. They have discarded the heavy, cumbersome cars; or keep them only for occasional use.

For general use—the Chrysler Six. So great is the demand to drive this car on the part of both men and women in the same family, that two or three and even more Chrysler cars are found necessary.

The other side of the picture shows families which have owned a car costing perhaps twice as much as the Chrysler Six, and who have discarded it in the interests of economy and greater convenience.

Now they own and operate two Chrysler Six cars for the cost of one cumbersome car which does not begin to bring the driving and riding thrill ever present in the Chrysler Six.

You, too, will become a Chrysler enthusiast after your first thrilling, delightful ride and drive in a Chrysler Six—a ride we are eager and anxious to give you.

Typical Reasons Why Many Families Own Two or More Chrysler Cars

Mr. Edward C. Taubel, of Norristown, Pa., says:

"The four cars we have purchased from you have been a revelation to us in easy handling, small amount of upkeep and general all around service. Having owned high priced cars for the past 15 years we feel we are giving you well deserved thanks for making us Chrysler owners."

"We can recommend your car to anyone looking for that something in automotive performance that we have found lacking in other cars."

E. W. Holmes, of Buffalo, New York, who owns two Chryslers, makes the significant statement: "The Chrysler handles so well it discourages one from driving anything else."

THE traditional manner of picturing men's apparel rests forever in the vault of bygone things. The old tinted drawings, as convincing as the glazed sheaf of wheat that stood on the parlor-table, are in the files of time.

Today, the makers of men's wear have the courage of their clothing as well as their convictions. They picture their models as they are.

All of the notable makers of men's attire and accessories consider photo-engraving not only an aid but an essential to selling. In every trade today, sales follow pictures as naturally "as bees swarm and follow their queen."

"Your Story in Picture Leaves Nothing Untold" say the men who compose the American Photo-Engravers Association. Their customers testify to this truth.

Cobblers Score Three In Tenth Frame With 2 Gone To Cop Tilt From Red Sox

Overtime Games Popular in A. L. With 3 Out of 4; Giants and Pirates Keep Pace

New York—Detroit's latest spurt of four consecutive victories places the Tigers, Saturday within half a game of leading the second division clubs in the American League, a position now occupied by the Indians.

With two out in the tenth inning Friday the Bengals rallied and scored three runs to win the opener of the series with the Red Sox, 5 to 3. Traverser's triple scoring two runners.

In a 12-inning fracas with the tracas the Senators, the Indians went under 7 to 5.

Eddie Collins made his first appearance in New York as manager of the White Sox. Overtime engagements proved popular and the Yankees were obliged to battle eleven innings before Chicago yielded, 4 to 1.

Sam Gray returned to the Athletics lineup for the first time since the injury to his thumb several weeks ago but had to give way in the sixth inning, Eddie Rengel finishing with a triumph over the Browns 13 to 5.

The Pirates pounded Rube Ehrhardt hard in the seventh inning Friday and scored six runs to win by the final count of 9 to 6. However, the Cosairs failed to gain on the Giants who won from the Reds, 5 to 1.

Opportune hitting and six bases on balls gave the Cardinals a 3 to 0 victory over the Braves.

The Phillies took another victory from the Cubs 5 to 4.

KOHLER FIVE SQUAD LOOKING FOR MATCHES

Appleton rifle teams, whether civilian or national guard, will have at least one opportunity for a dual meet this year, according to a letter received by Appleton chamber of commerce from the Kohler Recreation club at Kohler, Wis. The letter states that the club team is interested in playing matches with other rifle teams, and squads desiring matches are requested to write to Lyman E. Conger, secretary of the Kohler organization.

Appleton has at least one crack rifle squad, that of Company D, the local national guard unit, and it is likely that the letter will be turned over to Capt. E. F. Grundeman and a match may be arranged. Capt. Grundeman is himself a crack shot and several of his boys have won prizes in guard competitions.

KIMBERLY CREW TO MEET SHEBOYGAN PRESS SQUAD

Sheboygan—The Kimberly baseball team will play the Press nine at Vollrath park Sunday afternoon. The game will be called at 2:30 p. m. sharp.

Schultz and Steimle will again be the battery for the Press aggregation. They gave a capable exhibition of their abilities at Vollrath park last Sunday in the game with Oshkosh, and much is expected of them against the strong Kimberly club.

A big crowd is expected for the Sunday contest. There is no Wisconsin State league game here, and the Press-Kimberly exhibition should be a result attract large numbers of fans who will not follow the Chair makers on their southern trip.

Kimberly defeated the Press once this season at Kimberly, but the boys say it can't be done again.

3 Musketeers of Tygers Crowd A. L. Bat Leaders

Chicago—Ty Cobb, Harry Hellmann and Red Wingo, the three musketeers of the Detroit Tigers, today are crowding to the top of the American League in batting, forcing Sammy Hale of the Athletics and Harry Rice of St. Louis to travel a terrific clip to retain their leading positions.

Hale is going faster than his competitors and is setting the pace with .432, a gain of five points over last week's figure. Wingo gained one point and continues as runner-up with .426. Rice dropped three points, but is resting in third place with .411. Cobb is next with .405, and Hellmann fifth with .395. The figures include games of Wednesday.

At Simmons, Connie Mack's star outfielder, who has made more hits than any batter in major leagues—94—continues to be the best batter in the Ban Johnson circuit. The Athletics' star has registered 56 times. He is trailing Hellmann in batting with an average of .393, but has an impressive record of having batted 18 homers, three triples and eleven doubles.

Ken Williams of the Browns is giving Bob Meusel a race for the home run honors, batting 15 as compared to 14 for the Yankee star. Ruth finally broke into the home run class, but it takes considerable hunting to find his name. He has connected with three.

Post-Crescent ball team remained undefeated in the Twilight League and the Meyer Press crew was shot a notch farther down the ladder Friday afternoon at Jones park as the result of a 12-8 win for the loop leaders. A double tie still exists for second place. The game was featured by the least "crabbing" on decisions of any tilt this year, both crews working hard for a win and abiding by the umpire's decisions. Both teams played good ball and appeared to be evenly matched, with breaks throwing the game to the P-C squad. Colvin and Wagner kept the hits well scattered and the Press hurler won a big lead on the tin drinking cup given to the league's most valuable player at the end of the season when he sent the crowd into fits of laughter by fanning Eddie Starnard, slugger de luxe, twice in one inning. What Eddie said can't be printed. One big inning of six runs gave the P-C the game.

Wendland scored three runs for the losers while all of the winners hit well and displayed fine work, especially on the sacks. The Press crew started right out after a win and took a 3-2 lead in the first frame, but the P-C crew tied it in the second and then finding their batting eye the loop leaders battered the pill around and with a few breaks, garnered six runs in the third for a 9-3 lead. A run in the fourth and three more in the sixth, when a rally was started, brought the Press total up to 7, but the P-C boys grabbed two more in the last of the sixth to make the count, 11-7. Each crew garnered one in the next two innings with the Press boys counting first to put them three behind, but the P-C infield tightened up in the last frame and the game was over.

Lineups were:

Post-Crescent—Starnard, Schroeder, Jacobson, Bentle, Bender, Koepke, Gerhart, Rawls, Wagner.

Meyer Press—H. Boyle, Colvin, Timmers, Bayer, Wendland, Boyle, Weber, Reider, Casper, Reck.

SIMMONS IS 1925 SENSATION

BY BILLY EVANS

Last season at this time, outfielder Simmons of the Athletics was known as “Foot-in-the-Bucket” Al. This year the same young man is the sensation of the majors, the most improved player in baseball, and one of the outstanding reasons why the Athletics are out in front in the American League.

A year ago the experts doubted whether Simmons, because of his unusual stance, would be able to consistently hit major league pitching. He is a right-handed batsman and his habit of pulling away from the plate with his foot, seemingly making it impossible for him to follow through with his swing, was decidedly unorthodox for a good hitter.

Despite the fact that Simmons pulled badly, he hit better than .300 his first year in the majors. Often badly out of position, and apparently much fooled by a fast breaking curve, Simmons would hit it hard to right field.

In addition to his unorthodox style at the plate, Simmons also had other rough spots in his makeup. He didn't always make the proper play. Certain experts questioned his smartness.

The 1925 model of Al Simmons arrived over night. From an unpolished bushier, he stepped into the big show this year a real star.

Simmons still pulls at the plate but that means nothing to Connie Mack and opposing pitchers. “Just one of those natural hitters

Papermakers Are 2nd In Eastern Wisconsin Loop Fielding Averages

Sharp Fielding of Local Crew Wins Berth .005 Below 1st-place Oshkosh Team

One of the reasons why the Appleton Fox River team has a high position in the Eastern Wisconsin Baseball League in spite of weak hitting is shown in the loop fielding averages issued by Secretary C. L. Pre Fontaine of Fond du Lac, this week. The Papermakers are in second place in team fielding, only .005 behind the Oshkosh team in first place. The local's average to date is .960. Seven Appleton players, including two fielders, have perfect averages and one has not had a chance. None of the other regulars fall below the .900 mark in fielding. Fond du Lac, loop leaders, and batting leaders, are on the bottom in fielding with an over .900. The Papermakers lead league teams in putouts with 498, have pulled off 63 assists and have made the second least errors of any squad in the loop. The fielding leaders, Oshkosh, have made only 6 miscues.

Outfielder Simmons is a smart ball player. He always throws the ball to the proper place in the games I have officiated and what a wonderful arm he has.

On the bases he is very fast and uses good judgment. In the field he makes great use of his speed. No outfielder in baseball can cover more distance.

In many ways his style in general reminds me of “Happy” Felsch, when that player was starring for the Chicago White Sox.

The rise of Simmons reads like a tale from fiction. He has been playing professionally only four years. In his second year he led both the Texas League and American Association in batting.

It would occasion no great surprise if he topped the American League batters this year.

GORMAN TO FIGHT YOUNG STRIBLING

Classy Work of Kenosha Boy Gets Him Bouts With Elite of Ring This Summer

Kenosha.—Since making splendid showing in the last two months in eastern flistic circles, Bud Gorman, Kenosha's heavyweight scrapper, has advanced to the ranks of the first-raters. From now on Gorman will be pitted against the elite stars of the square-ring.

Information from the east brings out the announcement that Gorman has been scheduled for a battle with Young Stribling, the Georgia school boy ring marvel. The scene of the conflict will be Detroit and June 29 is the date. The bout means that Gorman will come in for great gobs of publicity from the game's most able writers and critics and indications are that the big promoters will grab Bud off for big shows provided he delivers in approved fashion against Stribling.

Stribling's rise to pugilistic fame reads like a page from fiction. When not laboring over his books in the classroom, Stribling was winning over notable foes until he has cleaned up everything in his class. The Macon wizard is a clever boxer. Gorman will have an edge on weight but it is figured that Stribling is speedy enough on his feet and well experienced in the game to put up a worthy battle with Bud.

MONTANA STAR STOPS FAMOUS M. U. COMBINE

Chicago—When Sweet of Montana finished second to Hubbard of Michigan, in the finals of the 100-yard dash at the National College track and field meet here the other day, the winning maize and blue combination of Hubbard-Wittman was halted.

For in virtually every other meet the two Michigan aces have been in this season they have finished first and second in the century event. Hubbard, of course, has shown the way to the tape but Wittman, his teammate, has usually been but a step or two behind.

At Chicago, however, Wittman, running his last college race, had to be content with third, Sweet nosing him out by a scant margin.

NEW LONDON CITY TEAM WANTS GAME FOR JULY 4

New London baseball team finds its self in a bad hole this year with no game booked for July 4 and the manager of the Edison city crew is working hard to book a game for that date. The New London crew is one of the strongest in the state, according to word from that city. Any professional team in the state desiring to book the open date is requested to communicate with Manager Charles Stuart, New London.

New York.—Babe Herman posted a $2,500 forfeit with the state athletic commission in challenging Louis (Kid) Kaplan, to a bout for the featherweight boxing championship.

YALE BREAKS MARK TO BEAT HARVARD ROWERS

New London, Conn.—Coached largely by men from points west, Yale has cleaned up Harvard in the four major sports events of the college year just ended. The victory of the Blue varsity eight on the Thames River Friday in the 58th regatta of the historic series was the climax of tests of supremacy on the gridiron, diamond and track. The pupils of Ed Leader of Washington State, again won on the water. Friday was the fifth consecutive time that Yale varsity oars had moved a shell faster than Harvard's and the count in the series is now Yale 31 victories, Harvard 27. The best time made for the distance before Friday was 20 minutes, 52 seconds and Yale skinned under that mark with a time of 20:26.

LIONS TOLD HOW U. S. INTERESTS ARE PROTECTED

Representatives of United States Department of State Explains Operation

American trade relations with all nations of the world have increased enormously during the last fifteen years, and are destined to increase rapidly in the future, and it is one of the chief purposes of the department of state to see that American commercial relations with foreign nations are carried on in a just and fair manner with no impartial discriminations against American merchants or against any foreign nations, said Dr. Arthur Young, of Washington, D. C., in charge of the economic office of the department of state, at an address delivered at the Lions club luncheon at the Conway hotel Friday noon. Members of Appleton Chamber of Commerce were guests at the luncheon.

MANY DEPARTMENTS
Dr. Young said that 15 years ago most of the business of the state department was carried on by the secretary of state, and the assistant secretary, with only a few under-officers to assist them. Now the department is divided into numerous branches, the chief ones being the diplomatic and consular branches. There is one diplomatic post in every country with which the United States maintains diplomatic relations, 52 in all. There are 250 United States consular posts in the various countries of the world. The department of state is organized on a geographic basis. There is the western division which takes care of the relations of the United States with the countries of western Europe, the eastern division which has charge of American diplomatic relations with the Balkans and the near east, the far eastern division which sees to American affairs in Asiatic countries, the Latin American division taking charge of South and Central American affairs, and the Mexican division, specially created because of intimate American relations with Mexico, and the turbulent state of affairs which has existed in Mexico in recent years.

TWO NEW OFFICES
Two important offices of recent origin in the state department are the legal office and the economic office. The legal office is in charge of an officer called a solicitor, who is an authority on international law. An important factor in international law according to Dr. Young is the relation of the laws of the United States with the laws of other nations. The economic office is in charge of Dr. Young and was created to supervise and regulate American trade relations with foreign countries, which have multiplied rapidly in recent years.

Functions of the economic office of the department include the settlement of reparations, helping to supervise on foreign loans, settlement of foreign debts to the United States, regulation of shipping and communications, and granting of passports. An important problem of the economic office is that of concessions of American merchants abroad. It is the business of the economic office of the state department to see that American merchants get their just share of trade concessions in foreign nations where concessions are granted. For example, Spain may be granting a certain commercial concession to French merchants, but at the same time be discriminating against American trade by denying the same privilege to American traders. It is the business of the economic office of the state department to take this matter up with the Spanish government, and bring about a settlement which will be fair to American traders. Mr. Young emphasized the fact that the economic office does not encourage commercial imperialism in this matter, in fact it does everything to discourage such an idea.

WATCH TARIFFS
Among this same line another function of Mr. Young's office is to see that protective or other tariffs of foreign countries do not discriminate against American products by placing a higher duty on them than on the products of other nations. Dr. Young placed special stress on the fact that America, in spite of her favorable geographical location, and her great wealth, cannot isolate herself from the rest of the world, especially in a commercial way. The many new inventions have brought the nations together in close relationships, and doing business between New York and London now is easier and quicker than doing business between New York and Boston 100 years ago.

Chief among the policies of the economic office is the open door policy which seeks freedom of access for other nations. Another policy of the office is to seek equality of treatment of all goods in custom duties.

A striking fact showing America's close relationship with foreign nations is that the people of the United States have by far the largest amount of money in foreign investments of any nation in the world. Before the war Great Britain led in foreign investments.

The Department of State was termed by ex-secretary Hughes, the department of peace, because it is constantly seeking to eliminate favoritism in foreign trade, and is continually trying to smooth out international relations and put them on a high plane.

Dr. Young concluded his talk by saying that the economic office and other offices of the state department always strive to be true to the interests and welfare of the American people.

The Secret of Success Depends on Health

It is a fact that only about one person out of three enjoys good health. That occasional headache; that tired, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite, the casual cold—all these are danger signals you should heed. Nature is warning you of impending sickness. Seemingly trivial symptoms tell of serious troubles taking root in your body. And yet, ninety-nine people out of every hundred will absolutely ignore these danger signals. As long as they are not flat on their backs, they will fool themselves into believing that they are all right. I want to talk to you. The fact that you have been treated elsewhere without benefit does not discourage me in the least. I am helping men and women every day, affecting cures, many times in cases pronounced incurable by others, so that I feel sure I can do much for you. My counsel will cost you nothing, but my charges for treatment will be reasonable and not more than you will be willing to pay for the benefits conferred.

The Anniversary Year at Pettibone's

PETTIBONE'S SIXTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION is again observed this week with special window displays that will continue over Sunday. These displays will be presented at various times throughout the year. The garments of 1860 in the windows to-night and to-morrow were loaned for exhibition by Mrs. August Knappe.

We have been offered many priceless heirlooms for exhibition that dated from a period far earlier than the times portrayed in these displays. Relics of Colonial days are often even more interesting than these Anniversary Displays, but because they have no connection with the early days of Pettibone's and Appleton we were forced to decline their loan.

Every customer of the Store is invited to take part in The Anniversary Year Celebration. We are anxious to display garments and furnishings of the 1860 period. Full credit will be given in each case to the owners.

An interesting comparison has just come to light in an editorial of the Appleton "Crescent" of June 18, 1863. The editor, Mr. Ryan, in commenting on the steady growth of Appleton announced the sales of the Pettibone Store for the year just ending. Curiously enough, these sales for the entire Pettibone Store of 1863 were just a little less than the sales of our silk counter alone in 1924.

The population of Appleton in 1863 was approximately three thousand. In the succeeding sixty-two years, Pettibone's INCREASED TWENTY-ONE TIMES ITS SIZE.

This comparison illustrates the important point that although Pettibone's is now Sixty-five years old, it is still expanding and growing. A senile old age is not worthy of a celebration; the sixty-fifth birthday of a virile institution is.

You will be invited at various times throughout the year to take part in the celebration of the Sixty-fifth Anniversary Year.

THE PETTIBONE-PEABODY CO
